Pokémon Omega Ruby | Pokémon Alpha Sapphire

Rayquaza has been summoned...

The Draconid people revere Rayquaza as a saviour and built the Sky Pillar as a monument to their celestial protector, and as a sacred summoning beacon for whenever the planet is in peril. LEGO® Pokémon™ Rayquaza is posed to protect the planet, scanning the horizon from above the Sky Pillar. You can modify its expression by moving its articulated parts, and with a few adjustments, you can let Rayquaza descend from the clouds and display it on its own.

...by a creative Trainer

Zinnia, the spirited Lorekeeper of the Draconid people, carries the weight of ancient duty with a dry grin and, of course, a powerful Key Stone crucial to her goal. Appearing as a LEGO® minifigure for the first time, she has reached the Sky Pillar Summit and summoned Rayquaza. And is, perhaps, enjoying the spectacular view?

RAYQUAZA lived for hundreds of millions of years in the earth's ozone layer, never descending to the ground.

Pokémon Ruby

A pinnacle of Pokémon lore

Rayquaza is a Legendary Pokémon, said to be millions of years old. It resides somewhere in the ozone layer, usually unconcerned with mere mortals. It's famously elusive and rarely spotted by anyone in the Pokémon world, which only adds further to its aura. Once every millennium or so, the earthbound Groudon and the ocean-dwelling Kyogre decide to settle their differences through an apocalyptic brawl that could, inadvertently, destroy the planet. When that happens, Rayquaza may be summoned to save the world [again].

It is the only Pokémon powerful and patient enough to persuade the battling parties to see reason.

From the LEGO® Pokémon™ Trainers

At the summit of Sky Pillar, where many Trainers aspire to climb, LEGO® Pokémon™ Rayquaza makes its presence known, coiling through the clouds with the kind of dramatic flair only a Legendary Pokémon can muster. Inspired by the Pokémon Omega Ruby and Pokémon Alpha Sapphire games, this model features both the triangular Sky Pillar summit and Rayquaza's serpentine form. Both shapes were really fun to recreate in brick form! And the colour of the character meant we got to introduce new elements that appear in the classic LEGO green colour for the first time.

We've used a combination of classic and new elements, designed new decoration prints and worked out advanced building techniques to include as many details of the tower and the characters' personalities as possible.
